RHEUMATISM CAUSES MORE SUFFERING THAN BULLETS

TURKEY IS ASKED TO SHOW CAUSE

Forts Fire on an American Launch.

SMALL DANGER OF WAR

Prompt Adjustment of Incident Is Anticipated.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The United States government has directed Ambassador Henry Morgenthau at Constantinople to ask the Ottoman government for an explanation of the firing by Turkish land forces at a launch from the American cruiser Tennessee proceeding from Voulah to the American consulate at Smyrna, Asia Minor.

Secretary Daniels, with the approval of President Wilson, simultaneously cabled the commanders of the Tennessee and the North Carolina, also in the Mediterranean, to take no action which might embarrass the American government and to await specific instructions from Washington concerning the general situation.

These steps followed the receipt of a message from Captain Benton C. Decker, commander of the Tennessee, as to just what occurred high officials of the Washington government had no doubt that the incident, no matter where the responsibility lay, would be promptly adjusted through diplomatic channels.

President Wilson is determined that under no circumstances shall the United States be involved in war with Turkey.

Incident May Not Be Serious.

It is thought most improbable that the matter will develop into a second Tampico incident, because of the greater seriousness of the consequences should the United States make such arbitrary demands on Turkey as were submitted to President Huerta of Mexico last spring.

With the navy's message as the only basis for judgment President Wilson and administration officials were considerably puzzled over the affair.

The president telephoned Secretary Daniels several times and also discussed the situation with Acting Secretary Lansing.

Officials of the government declined to believe that the firing was an unfriendly or hostile act.

Assurances by the porte have repeatedly pledged protection and the closest friendship for American citizens.

Efforts on the part of some Mohammedan leaders in Turkey to start a "holy war" have made Americans, as well as British and French subjects, apprehensive.

The American consul at Smyrna reported his fears to Ambassador Morgenthau, under whose instructions the two warships have been moving about in Turkish waters.

GERMANS MAKE COMPLAINT

Assert Russia Is Treating Prisoners Very Badly.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The German embassy here issued the following statement:

"Japan up to the present has treated her prisoners excellently. According to reliable private news from Hongkong, however, the German prisoners there complain bitterly. They are publicly forced to clean streets and sewers. Reports from Harbin confirm the terrible misery of German-Austrian prisoners passing through there on their way to Eastern Siberia. They are in rags, without shoes and stockings, and no care is taken of sick prisoners. They are compelled to pay for bad and insufficient food."

Great Britain Aids Belgians.

London, Nov. 19.—Francis D. Acland, parliamentary under secretary of foreign affairs, stated in the house of commons that the government had contributed $500,000 to the Belgian government for the purchase of food-stuffs for the destitute inhabitants of that country.

SENATOR CURTIS.

Wins Out by Small Plurality in Kansas.

CURTIS IS VICTOR BY 3,894

Elected United States Senator for Kansas.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 19.—Charles Curtis, Republican, was elected to the United States senate over Congressman George A. Neeley, Democrat, by a plurality of 3,894, according to official figures given out by the secretary of state. The total vote for Curtis was 180,823.

Congressman Victor Murdock, Progressive, candidate for senator, led his ticket with a vote of 116,755.

DOORS LOCKED, TEN ARE KILLED IN FIRE

Eight Boys Among Victims of Reform School Blaze.

Marianna, Fla., Nov. 19.—Ten persons, eight of them boys, burned to death here when fire destroyed the main building of the Florida reform school.

Nearly 100 boys escaped by climbing through a skylight and down the sides of the three-story building on fire.

According to a statement telegraphed to Governor Trammell by Acting Superintendent William Bell all fire escape doors in the section where deaths occurred were locked when the fire was discovered.

Governor Trammell has telegraphed President W. H. Milton of the board of directors of the school asking for an investigation.

The fire is thought to have been caused by the explosion of an oil lamp on the first floor.

STEAMER STRIKES LINER

Comal Forced to Return to Dock and Cancel Sailing.

New York, Nov. 19.—The Mallory line steamship Comal, for Galveston, and the White Star liner Baltic, for Liverpool, collided as both ships were passing through Ambrose channel.

The Comal was compelled to return to her dock, where it was found she had been damaged to such an extent that her sailing has been canceled.

The Comal had fifty-six passengers on board bound for Galveston.

BODY IS FOUND IN BOX CAR

Murder Victim May Be Chicago Christmas Tree Buyer.

Rhineland, Wis., Nov. 19.—The body of a man supposed to be John McDonald, a Christmas tree buyer from Chicago, was found in a potato car on a Northwestern siding near North Crandon. The man's head had been severed. The pockets had been turned inside out.

A woodsman in a nearby covey is under suspicion.

Special to Dispatch:

London, Nov. 19, 12:55 P. M.—With snow and rain prevailing in Flanders, pneumonia and rheumatism are claiming more victims than bullets. The field hospitals of the Allies as well as the Germans are swamped with paralyzed rheumatic sufferers from freezing nights in the trenches.

RUSSIANS ADMIT REVERSE IN POLAND

Special to The Dispatch:

London, Nov. 19, 2:53 P. M.—Germany's new attack in the center of the eastern battle line stood out conspicuously today as the chief immediate importance in the European war. The sudden assault of the Germans in Russian Poland, from which territory they were described recently as being driven in disorder, has lent a new aspect to campaign. Russian military officials admit a reverse in this territory and Berlin is celebrating the great victory.

NIGHT ATTACK BY BRITISH AND FRENCH

Special to The Dispatch:

Paris, Nov. 19, 12:55 P. M.—A night attack by British troops and French sailors caused the Germans to evacuate Schoorhakke, Belgium, which is practically surrounded by water from broken dykes.

MAN'S BODY IN A BARREL

New York Police Have No Clue to Victim's Identity.

New York, Nov. 19.—A prescription written on the blank of an East Side druggist furnished the police their only clue to the identity of the dead man whose body was found in a barrel in a lonely street under the Queensborough bridge. A bullet wound in the heart indicated that a murder had been committed and the police are convinced that they are confronted with a mystery similar to the famous East Side barrel murder of some years ago, which followed a quarrel between members of a secret organization.

Two men unloaded the barrel from a truck and rolled it to the sidewalk and stood it on end. They then leaped back on their truck and whipped their horses and dashed away.

CREW OF TWELVE SAVED

Fishing Steamer Runs Ashore During Storm on Lake Superior.

Duluth, Nov. 19.—Following a desperate fight against a northwesterly steamer Superior, owned by the Boutin Fish company of Bayfield, Wis., under command of Captain Neil Mathewson and carrying a crew of twelve men, was beached on Sand island, in Squaw bay, Lake Superior.

Members of the crew were rescued from the sinking craft by loggers employed in the immediate vicinity. The steamer probably will pound to pieces before the wreckers can free her.

The cargo of fish and nets, valued at $2,000, was thrown overboard during the fight against the storm.

SHOT DEAD BY A GERMAN

Chicago Englishman Called the Kaiser a "Mutt."

Chicago, Nov. 19.—J. C. Strobel, an aged German, sat on the edge of his bed reading a German paper's account of the fighting in Flanders.

John Heffron, an Englishman, and Peter Lindsey, a Swede, roomers in the same house, dropped in and took chairs.

"The Kaiser is a mutt," said Heffron, "he ought to be in jail."

Strobel drew a revolver from under his pillow and fired twice. Heffron fell dead and Lindsey had a bullet through his shoulder. Strobel was captured trying to board a street car.

STOCK BROKERS ARRESTED

Two San Francisco Men Charged With Embezzlement.

San Francisco, Nov. 19.—J. C. Wilson, a stock broker who suspended business Aug. 8, and his partner, B. A. Wilbrandt, were arrested here charged with embezzlement.

The warrants were sworn to in the police court by A. B. Busey, Jr., Louis Rosenthal and George F. Hatton, former customers of the firm.

The alleged embezzlement covers sums received by the firm July 28 to 31, just prior to its failure.

VILLA MARCHING ON MEXICO CITY

Rebel General Takes Important Railway Center.

CARRANZA FORCES WAITING

First Important Clash in New Revolution May Take Place at Queretaro and Irapuato—General Villa Is Reported Well Equipped for His Advance Towards the Capital.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Those who had pinned any hopes on Mr. Bryan's announcement of two days ago that peace is assured in Mexico were disillusioned by further reports to the state department.

General Francisco Villa, in command of the troops under the control of the Mexican convention at Aguas Calientes, is marching on Mexico City.

His army took Leon, the first important railroad center south of Aguas Calientes, without firing a shot.

The forces of General Pablo Gonzalez, loyal to Carranza, are gathered at Queretaro and Irapuato, where the first important clash in the hostilities between Carranza and the convention probably will take place.

These facts were reported in official messages received from George C. Carothers, American consular agent accompanying General Villa. Carothers stated that General Villa was well equipped for the march.

Conditions Are Serious.

From American Consul Silliman came a dispatch saying conditions were far more serious in Mexico City than they had been since the parleys for peace began.

He regards actual hostilities as inevitable, though some of the generals are still trying to patch up the differences that have arisen.

General Carranza, according to messages from Dr. Silliman and Leon Canova, special agent at Aguas Calientes, has declared that he has been misunderstood; that he never intended to deliver the executive power except to General Pablo Gonzalez or some other man of his own selection and in whom he had entire confidence.

Although there has been no definite advice it was believed by officials that General Gutierrez, chosen provisional president at Aguas Calientes, had ordered a general attack on Carranza's garrisons.

Gutierrez controls practically all of the northern half of Mexico and General Villa's advance guard is within 200 miles of the Mexican capital.

TAKES UP MINE TROUBLES

A. F. of L. Demands Settlement of Colorado Dispute.

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—The American Federation of Labor, in annual convention, unanimously adopted a resolution calling on the president of the United States "to insist that the Colorado coal operators immediately comply with the federal plan of settlement" of the strike in that state, and "in the event they refuse, that he take such steps as are necessary to have a receiver appointed to take over the mines."

The resolution was adopted without discussion. The committee expressed sympathy for the strikers and assured them support until the strike is settled.

The convention also adopted, by a vote of 159 to 33, a resolution raising the salary of the president of the federation from $5,000 to $7,500 a year, and that of the secretary from $4,000 to $5,000.

FALSE ARREST SUIT FAILS

Order for Defense Is Given in Damage Case.

Cincinnati, Nov. 19.—The suit of Benjamin Barnes of Dayton, O., against the Pullman company, Professor William Hill, and his daughter, Cecil Hill, for $30,928 damages for alleged false arrest and imprisonment came to an end by an instructed verdict for the defense.

The order for the verdict was given by Judge Hollister following the close of testimony and after the attorneys for the defense had made a motion to take the case from the jury and dismiss it.

Judge Hollister took the view that the defendants had acted in good faith and on circumstances that constituted a reasonable cause.

APPEALS TO AMERICA TO FEED BELGIANS

Prime Minister Says Children Tear Bread From Soldiers' Hands.

London, Nov. 19.—Cardinal Francis Joseph Merlier, primate of Belgium, who has just returned to his own country after a visit to England where he received an enthusiastic reception, sends a stirring appeal through the American commission for relief in Belgium for assistance for his starving parishioners of Malines and the surrounding neighborhood.

In the city of Malines alone, the cardinal says, 12,000 mouths have to be fed daily. In his telegram to Captain C. F. Lacey of the American commission the Belgian prelate says:

"Children come to the German soldiers and tear bread from their hands; the soldiers divide their bread with them; they are really famished."

"Every stranger who comes to the city or goes into the country is surrounded by a great number of women and children begging him for something to eat. There is hardly a single laborer who can find any work to gain his daily bread."

"Everything is lacking—we are in want of potatoes, peas, grain, flour, meat and bacon. No petroleum is obtainable; coal can be obtained in the district of Charleroi, but the railroads cannot carry it because communications are interrupted."

"The cattle of the people of the country have been sold to the soldiers, but with the receipts received for cattle the Belgians cannot obtain any food until after the war is over."

British Baron Is Killed.

London, Nov. 19.—According to casualty lists dated Nov. 11, 12 and 13 twenty-five British officers have been killed and fifty wounded. Fourteen officers are reported missing. Among the killed is Henry Bligh Fortescue Parnell, fifth baron of Congleton, a lieutenant in the Grenadier guards. In the list of wounded is the name of Brigadier General Frederick C. Shaw, commanding the Ninth infantry brigade.

LAST NEW HAVEN LINK CUT

Rhode Island Company Severs Final Connection With Railroad.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 19.—An announcement that the Rhode Island company which controls the street railways in this state had been reorganized so that the last link of its connection with the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad has been severed was made by the trustees appointed under the federal agreement.

LOSSES ARE VERY HEAVY

Fresh German Force Attacks Allies.

ARE FACING RUSSIANS

Austrians and Teutons Cease Retreat From the Vistula.

London, Nov. 19.—The Anglo-French forces, which have been holding the territory around Ypres, have been subjected again to determined attacks, fresh German troops having attempted to force the allies out of their trenches, a task which the Prussian guard a few days previously failed to accomplish.

As in the case with the Prussian guard the Germans who made the latest effort appear to have taken the first line of trenches, but, like the guards, found themselves attacked on the flanks and were compelled to give back the ground gained after holding it for a short time.

From the coast of Flanders to the River Lys on the Franco-Belgian border, much of which has been flooded by the allies to hinder German attacks, there has been a repetition on a somewhat smaller scale of the bombardment which the invaders invariably resort to in the hope of breaking down the allies' resistance before infantry attacks and in isolated spots attacks in force have been made, but according to the French and British reports all these have been repulsed.

Both Sides Lose Heavily.

Both sides, as shown by the casualty lists of the officers, are losing heavily in the fighting, but the Germans on the offensive, and so often enticed after success was nearly in their hands, are said to have suffered enormously.

The French zouaves, who have frequently distinguished themselves by dashing charges, have been utilized again to dislodge the Germans from a position near Bixschote over which there has been much fighting, and according to the French communication, they have again been successful.

These incidents are merely examples of what has been occurring in Northern France, along the Aisne valley and Rheims, in the Argonne forest and on the banks of the River Meuse. First one side and then the other gains an advantage, but when all is told the general situation remains about as it was.

Reports come from France that the Germans are preparing to make another attempt to get through to the coast by way of La Bassée, but, like the rumor that they are preparing for a retreat, there is no confirmation.

Battle Imminent in Poland.

In the East the Germans and Austrians have turned, after their retreat from the Vistula, to face the Russians in East Prussia, in Poland and before Cracow. Each of these regions probably will provide a big battle, but the most important will be that in Poland, where the Germans are sending their strongest and best armies in the hope of smashing the Russian center. This would compel the Russians to fall back again to the Vistula and relieve Silesia from the immediate danger of an invasion.

Concerning the fighting in the Balkans and the Near East only scraps of information are reaching the outside world. In South Africa, General Louis Botha, commander-in-chief of the defense forces, reports the breaking up of additional rebel commandos and the capture of guns, ammunition and provisions.

The Earl of Crewe disclosed in the house of lords that in East Africa the Indian troops are being employed against the Germans. That there has been heavy fighting is shown by the fact that the British casualties to date total 900.

Advantageous Promptitude.

Henry IV. of France particularly liked answers to his questions given quickly and without preparation. On one occasion, meeting an ecclesiastic, he said to him: "Where do you come from? Where are you going? What do you want?"

"From Bourges to Paris; a living," replied the cleric promptly.

"You shall have it!" cried the prince.

The French zouaves, who have frequently distinguished themselves by dashing charges, have been utilized again to dislodge the Germans from a position near Bixchoote over which there has been much fighting and, according to the French communication, they have again been successful.

These incidents are merely examples of what has been occurring in Northern France, along the Aisne valley and Rheims, in the Argonne forest and on the banks of the River Meuse. First one side and then the other gains an advantage, but when all is told the general situation remains about as it was.

Reports come from France that the Germans are preparing to make another attempt to get through to the coast by way of La Bassée, but, like the rumor that they are preparing for a retreat, there is no confirmation.

Battle Imminent in Poland.

In the East the Germans and Austrians have turned, after their retreat from the Vistula, to face the Russians in East Prussia, in Poland and before Cracow. Each of these regions probably will provide a big battle, but the most important will be that in Poland, where the Germans are sending their strongest and best armies in the hope of smashing the Russian center. This would compel the Russians to fall back again to the Vistula and relieve Silesia from the immediate danger of an invasion.

Concerning the fighting in the Balkans and the Near East only scraps of information are reaching the outside world. In South Africa, General Louis Botha, commander-in-chief of the defense forces, reports the breaking up of additional rebel commandos and the capture of guns, ammunition and provisions.

The Earl of Crewe disclosed in the house of lords that in East Africa the Indian troops are being employed against the Germans. That there has been heavy fighting is shown by the fact that the British casualties to date total 900.

Advantageous Promptitude.

Henry IV. of France particularly liked answers to his questions given quickly and without preparation. On one occasion, meeting an ecclesiastic, he said to him: "Where do you come from? Where are you going? What do you want?"

"From Bourges to Paris; a living," replied the cleric promptly. "You shall have it!" cried the prince.

AMERICAN FASHION NEWS

The Full Skirt is No Longer a Possibility, But an Actuality, Says Fashion Art League

If the costumes now being designed by members of the Fashion Art League of America are a criterion, the full skirt is no longer a possibility, but an actuality. Practically every costume shown by this fashion organization has a full skirt, the only exceptions being the closer draped evening gowns and sporting costumes.

Some of the more radical designers are showing the old full skirt of 1880. It is laid in folds at the waist line, gradually increasing in the flare as it reaches the bottom. Other skirts hang straight and full from the waist line and come only to the foot tops.

The bottom line of the skirt is very generally broken. Sometimes by scallops, again by being raised in the front and in the back; still again by being raised at the sides. One good-looking model in cloth had the full skirt at the sides lower than the front and back panels, the tunic being outlined in fur.

All of the dancing skirts are very short and ruffled in the characteristic 1830 mode, the tulle edges being outlined in ruchings of ribbon and tiny clusters of flowers dropped here and there. Some of these frilly tulle frocks show a decided waist line marked by three rows of narrow satin ribbon.

Many high collars are shown. Some are of fur and others of the material of the bodice, buttoning in the front to the very top of the collar.

A favorite bodice for a young girl is a simple little blouse buttoning from the waistline—slightly raised—straight up the front to the neck and in the same line to the top of the collar. The skirts of these little frocks are full with the slit pockets at the side.

The military influence is being shown more every day. Some of the latest models are in the French military blue with gray trimmings, the fronts being strapped in the typical "militaire" style. Even the Red Cross band is being featured on the sleeve. Festoons of cords are also being exhibited draped as on the officers' dress coats.

The recent corset models show a decidedly higher back, also an increase in height at the sides, and some at the bust line in the front. Though there is a nip in at the waist line in the back, the line below the waist is very straight. The nip in at the side of the front is also noticeable.

The curtain closes on "The Man Who Was Misunderstood."

The Grand management is to be congratulated by the Brainerd public in affording them an opportunity to see such great pictures as Richelieu which will be given Friday and Saturday. Even with packed houses the management can only hope to come out even and the enterprise displayed entitles them to two of the biggest days the Grand has ever had. ## IMMIGRATION CONFERENCE

Southern Commercial Congress Conference to Consider Placing Immigrants

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19—Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida, president of The Southern Commercial Congress, issued a call today for state and local organizations, railroad officials, bankers and real estate and business men of the south to meet in Washington on Saturday, Dec. 12th, to consider and devise methods of interesting and locating agricultural immigrants in the southern states. The call is issued by The Southern Commercial Congress, with the approval of Secretary Wilson of the department of labor, at the instance of leading business men throughout the south to discuss the advisability of undertaking efforts for placing the agriculturally inclined immigrants now out of employment in our industrial communities on southern farms, and to plan methods of caring for the horde of foreigners that will probably come to this country at the close of the European conflict.

Secretary Wilson will deliver the opening address at the conference. The Southern Commercial Congress will have the cooperation of the department of labor in this work, and Mr. T. V. Powderly, chief of the division of information of the bureau of immigration, has been designated to actively assist in arranging for the meeting.

The conference is called, it is stated, to determine a southern immigration policy, and to work out a practical plan by which the south can take advantage of existing opportunities. There are thousands of immigrant families in our industrial communities, either out of work or on short time, that have been working and saving for years in order to be able to return to Europe and purchase agricultural homes who are now prevented from leaving the country. Many of these people no longer desire to return abroad in view of the economic burden which the work has placed on the countries of Europe, and large groups can be placed on southern farms if the proper efforts are made to secure them.

Large numbers of European immigrants, many of whom will be practically destitute, will come to the United States at the close of hostilities in Europe and must be cared for. The advisability of attempting to utilize this class of people on the farm lands of the south will also be considered.

Preparations are being made to have representatives of the foreign press in this country, and officials of the more important of the immigrant societies to attend the conference. In addition to Secretary Wilson, other high officials of the federal government will also be in attendance.

The fact that the south possesses peculiar opportunities and advantages in this instance is fully realized by the officials of The Southern Commercial Congress and they will see that the conference directs its attention to devising a system of financing agricultural settlements in the southern states and to the task of establishing an immigration service capable of properly handling and directing this important work.

A large attendance is expected for the subject of immigration is now provoking considerable attention throughout the country, and is commanding serious consideration on the part of the government. It is already being urged that postoffice officials, and the county agents of the department of agriculture cooperate with the federal immigration officials and state officials in effecting a proper distribution of immigrants to the agricultural regions.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida, president of The Southern Commercial Congress, issued a call today for state and local organizations, railroad officials, bankers and real estate and business men of the south to meet in Washington on Saturday, Dec. 12th, to consider and devise methods of interesting and locating agricultural immigrants in the southern states. The call is issued by The Southern Commercial Congress, with the approval of Secretary Wilson of the department of labor, at the instance of leading business men throughout the south to discuss the advisability of undertaking efforts for placing the agriculturally inclined immigrants now out of employment in our industrial communities on southern farms, and to plan methods of caring for the horde of foreigners that will probably come to this country at the close of the European conflict.

Secretary Wilson will deliver the opening address at the conference. The Southern Commercial Congress will have the cooperation of the department of labor in this work, and Mr. T. V. Powderly, chief of the division of information of the bureau of immigration, has been designated to actively assist in arranging for the meeting.

The conference is called, it is stated, to determine a southern immigration policy, and to work out a practical plan by which the south can take advantage of existing opportunities. There are thousands of immigrant families in our industrial communities, either out of work or on short time, that have been working and saving for years in order to be able to return to Europe and purchase agricultural homes who are now prevented from leaving the country. Many of these people no longer desire to return abroad in view of the economic burden which the work has placed on the countries of Europe, and large groups can be placed on southern farms if the proper efforts are made to secure them.

Large numbers of European immigrants, many of whom will be practically destitute, will come to the United States at the close of hostilities in Europe and must be cared for. The advisability of attempting to utilize this class of people on the farm lands of the south will also be considered.

Preparations are being made to have representatives of the foreign press in this country, and officials of the more important of the immigrant societies to attend the conference. In addition to Secretary Wilson, other high officials of the federal government will also be in attendance.

The fact that the south possesses peculiar opportunities and advantages in this instance is fully realized by the officials of The Southern Commercial Congress and they will see that the conference directs its attention to devising a system of financing agricultural settlements in the southern states and to the task of establishing an immigration service capable of properly handling and directing this important work.

A large attendance is expected for the subject of immigration is now provoking considerable attention throughout the country, and is commanding serious consideration on the part of the government. It is already being urged that postoffice officials, and the county agents of the department of agriculture cooperate with the federal immigration officials and state officials in effecting a proper distribution of immigrants to the agricultural regions.

THINKS MISTAKE MADE

When Report is Received that Congressman Lindbergh had no Campaign Expenses to Meet

The St. Cloud Journal-Press is under the impression that a mistake has been made, and says: "Congressman Lindbergh is reported from Washington as having filed a statement that he had no campaign expenses in the recent election. This must be a mistake, because he had to pay filing fees in the primary and regular elections and he flooded the district with speeches, and although these were sent out at government expense, Lindbergh had to pay the cost of printing them. He also held several meetings in the district, and probably had to pay something for hall rent, to say nothing of his expenses in traveling over the district. The democrats accused him of thrift in following up the DuBois meetings, and addressing the crowds gathered by DuBois after the democratic candidate had left, but even then he must have been to considerable expense. If he has filed a statement that his campaign cost him nothing, DuBois might have grounds for contest. But trust Foxey Charley not to leave any loopholes open of that sort."

THE VOTE SUMMED UP

"The Truth About the Sixth District Vote" is Furnished by Congressman Lindbergh

Many requests have come to me to have the facts published in regard to the contest for congress in the Sixth district.

Over three years ago a few political manipulators planned to create a new Sixth district for the purpose of defeating me. Their first plan was to create a shoestring district that would put Morrison county, my home, into the Minneapolis east side district. They could not accomplish that, so then planned to reduce the Sixth district in population below the regular. In this they succeeded in getting Douglas, Meeker and Wright taken off, and adding Aitkin and Beltrami. The latter two counties have more than three times the area and less than half the population of the counties taken off. It makes a shoestring district stretching more than two thirds the length of the state and has the smallest population of any of the ten Minnesota districts. The purpose of it was to use Stearns county with its large population, three quarters democratic, to defeat me. It is because none of the counties loaned themselves to the scheme that it failed and much misrepresentation has been made by those disappointed to conceal the result.

Since I have been requested to make the facts known by publication, and since it is your purpose to give the people the facts, I assume that you will be willing to publish this statement, and therefore send it to you along with the figures which are as follows:

I carried ten counties over DuBois by the following majorities:

Aitkin	953
Beltrami	625
Sherburne	753
Wadena	438
Morrison	813
Crow Wing	913
Todd	1001
Cass	624
Hubbard	484
Benton	172
Total	6,776

DuBois carried Stearns county over me by 2,718.

From the above it will be seen that my majority over DuBois was 4,028. The disparity in population in the new Sixth district will rapidly be overcome by the rapid growth of the two new counties which are rich in agricultural lands awaiting thousands of new settlers. Several of the old counties are also increasing their population more than normal, for like reasons. Respectfully,

C. A. LINDBERGH.

Making Law.

"How is the law made?" asked the instructor in United States history. "Oh," replied the maiden cheerfully, "the senate has to ratify it, and then the president has to veto it, and then the house of representatives has to—" She hesitated for a moment and knitted her pretty forehead. "Oh, yes! I remember now," she said. "The house of representatives has to adjourn until the next session!"—Youth's Companion.

The Title "King."

The sovereign title of king has generally been supposed to be derived from the old British word "gynning," signifying "wise." But the Hebrew term "rosch" is doubtless the root of all the present titles denoting kingly power, including the Punic "resch," the Scythian "reix," the Latin "rex," the Spanish "rey" and the French "roi." The German nations styled their monarch according to their different dialects—"konig," "kuning," "koning," "king."

WATER TURNED ON IN VILLAGE

Engineer in Deerwood Testing the Plant—The Deerwood Village Band Concert

Deerwood, Minn., Nov. 19.—The village council of Deerwood has bought 500 feet of hose from the W. S. Nott Co. of Minneapolis and 250 feet from the Cuyuna Range Hardware company.

Oscar Erickson is very sick at a Brainerd hospital.

The "Jolly Pulls" gave a minstrel show and exhibition of hypnotism in the village opera house.

Lawrence & Morgan, a colored song and dance sketch team, forgot to pay their board bill at the Deerwood hotel and were arrested and are now lodged in jail. When through with their 15 days in the county jail, Frank E. Cox says two other warrants are ready, one for not paying a hotel bill and another for a store bill in Cuyuna. The plans appear to have a stony road to travel on the Cuyuna range.

On Monday the first water was turned on in Deerwood's water works system and the procedure was a source of gratification to the many people who have labored earnestly for this improvement. The big tank has been filled. Marshal Mike Lamey will have charge at night, it is said, of the electric pumps. An engineer was in Deerwood Tuesday testing the plant.

Richard Johnson, of Barrows, was in town this week.

Julius O. Hage, somewhat crippled up by much walking and traveling through woods and brush, has returned from a deer hunt minus a deer.

The Cuyuna Range Power Co. sold an armature to C. Katz of Brainerd, supposed to be rich in copper. Mr. Katz chopped it up with an axe to get at the mother lode which in weight was considerably below his expectations.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Peterson are the parents of a baby boy.

S. A. Aune, of Vining, is now in charge of the Mahlum Lumber Co. yards.

Mrs. E. Magollin, Jr., and baby son have returned from a visit in Minneapolis.

Mrs. James McCarville was a Brainerd visitor Wednesday.

Attorney H. E. Peterson was at Carlton on legal business.

Business at the Deerwood hotel is increasing, the hotel enjoying a fine patronage under the management of Frank E. Cox.

Mrs. H. J. Ernster and baby boy Manuel, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Ernster.

Miss Lucille Rudolph visited Deerwood Wednesday.

James Brownlee has been at Duluth attending to business matters.

Donald Quinlivan has returned from a ten days' visit in Minneapolis.

Mrs. W. Rickard, of Minneapolis, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Quinlivan. Mrs. Rickard says that Minneapolis is the scene of many robberies. Her husband's store was robbed three times in as many months in spite of burglary insurance, special watchman service trying front doors and back and police protection.

August Peterson and family, of Grasston, are new residents of Deerwood.

Hans Skau has gone to Little Falls where he will work in a hardware store.

A. H. Young, of Swaters, was in town last week.

The Deerwood band will give a concert at the Electric theatre on Friday evening, Nov. 20.

Queer Happenings In the War News

France is using four canal boats as ambulances to take wounded soldiers to Paris. An armed tug tows them.

Real redskins are soon to take part in the war. The Six Nations Indians in Canada will furnish a company of 120 officers and men.

Joseph Eiche, a game warden of Passaic, N. J., has had six brothers, five nephews and a niece killed in the war, but four brothers and fourteen nephews are still fighting for the kaiser.

M. Simyan of Paris in searching for the body of a son killed in Alsace picked up a bit of paper in the trench and found it to be his son's last statement, thrown aside when his pockets were searched.

Some of the hostile trenches about Roye are only fifteen yards apart, and a company of French sappers stumbled into the ditch where German sappers were working. A battle ensued with picks and shovels and continued until rifles began to crack, when the French escaped.

A French expert explains that the strange attitudes in which soldiers are found dead without a scratch are due to the terrific air pressure as a shell explodes. "This pressure," he says, "is suddenly withdrawn, the effect being to stop the whole human organism. It is as if a diver were sent to great depth and instantly brought back to the surface. No living being can stand such a strain."

ADVISED TO EAT MORE FISH.

People of New York Get a Circular From the Food Committee.

Mayor Mitchell's food supply committee of New York city sent out a circular advising people to eat more fish.

"The habit of eating fish on Fridays only is absurd and should be stopped," says the circular. "Fish are just as appetizing and nourishing on Tuesdays and Thursdays as on Fridays, and if you and your neighbors will buy fish any day in the week you will get cheaper fish and better fish. Hundreds of carloads of fish are sent from New York to other cities because the people living in New York do not appreciate the value of fish as a food and do not buy it as often as they should."

"Vary your diet as much as you can. You will be more healthy if you do. Don't use meat so much. Use fish more. Fish is just as nourishing as lean meat, and if eaten with bread, potatoes, etc., will supply all the needs of the body. If possible, buy your fish from a fish dealer."

"When you buy fish see that you get the trimmings. You are just as much entitled to them as you are to the trimmings of your meat. The meat part of almost any fish may be cooked separately. If you ask your fish dealer to remove the meat part of the fish for you the trimmings will consist of the head, the skeleton and the fins, and these can be made for fish stock, out of which can be made excellent fish soups and fish sauces."

JOHN D. NOT ANAEMIC.

Pastor Says Old Man Is In Good Health and a Pleasant Companion.

John D. Rockefeller is not an anaemic old gentleman with a citrous disposition brought on by chronic indigestion; neither is he constantly in fear of assassination and afraid to laugh for fear of being considered undignified. On the contrary, he is a pleasant companion, enjoys excellent health and has an appetite that no day laborer might be ashamed of. He is possessed of a sharp wit, a ready laugh, and a kindly disposition and enjoys life to the utmost.

The Rev. Dr. William W. Bustard, pastor of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church, Cleveland, of which Mr. Rockefeller has been a member for more than sixty years, is authority for these statements.

In addition to being Mr. Rockefeller's spiritual adviser, Mr. Bustard is one of his closest personal friends.

Young Atherton solved the problem of getting home without walking. He lay prone on the running board, grasped the front axle with his right hand, using his arm for a steering rod and keeping the machine in the road by main strength. His father drove by keeping the engine running. He reached Durand without further trouble.

25,000 Birds From Saxony.

No less than 25,000 song birds chirped and sang when the steamship Osterdyk, from Rotterdam, arrived at Hoboken. The birds were part of a Christmas cargo that was carried by the steamer. They came from the homes of hundreds of peasants and bird fanciers in Saxony and comprised what is believed to be the largest shipment of birds ever brought to America. Two-thirds of the birds were canaries.

Lost His Nerve.

Many years ago a blacksmith near York, England, successfully performed the delicate operation of removing a cataract from an eye on several of his fellow villagers, says the London Chronicle. The fact became known to a doctor in the neighborhood, who so admired the blacksmith's skill that he provided the means for his education as an oculist. To the blacksmith the removal of the cataract was no more than a mechanical feat, but when he became acquainted with the structure of the human eye and its amazing delicacy he was so overpowered by the rashness of what he had done in ignorance that he lost his nerve, and with the fear of knowledge he insisted on returning to his anvil.

Some enthusiastic golfers are so engrossed in the game that on and off the green they can think and talk of nothing else. Such a one was taken by an astronomer to see the moon through a telescope. ## U.S. OWNERSHIP OF WIRES PROPOSED

Burleson to Make Recommendation at Next Session.

WIRELESS A BIG PROBLEM.

Other Measures Along Postal Lines Will Not Be Pushed Until Session in 1915—This Country Kept Busy Trying to Determine What is Contraband and What is Not.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Postmaster General Burleson does not look for much legislation along postal lines during the short session of congress. He recognizes that little can be done save to pass the appropriation bills, if congress is to avoid an extra session in the spring. At the same time he will make many recommendations in order that they may be considered and studied by those who will shape postal legislation in the next congress.

About the most important recommendation will be for the acquisition by the government of the telegraph and telephone lines. General Burleson believes that all arteries of communication should be in the hands of the government and that the telegraph and telephone monopoly just as the postoffice system.

What to Do With Wireless.

If the government ever should take over the telegraph and telephone lines the question will naturally arise what to do with wireless. Even without assuming government ownership of the telegraph there are many reasons why wireless should be controlled by the government instead of being in private hands.

This has been demonstrated during the war in Europe when wireless stations have been used in a manner far from satisfactory to this government as a neutral. It has often been found that different wireless plants belonging to private parties interfere with and interrupt government work. Then there are the fake distress calls that are sent out by alleged jokers operating wireless plants. Nearly everything connected with the wonderful invention which allows messages to be sent hither and thither through the air indicates that the government should control that line of communication, even more than the telegraph or telephone.

Curious Contraband Regulations.

Various protests have been lodged with this government against furnishing contraband goods to Europeans engaged in war. It develops that contraband is a word which stretches over a wide range and can be made to mean almost anything that a government at war wants it to mean. For instance, foodstuffs, clothing, blankets and such like are not contraband, nor are horses and mules, sent abroad for any other than war purposes. Yet a heavy hand is laid upon arms and ammunition and even raw materials like copper, crude oil and other things which only can be used for war materials after manufacture.

It is evident that our government is getting a little tired of the many protests that have been lodged by the representatives of foreign governments. It is absurd to think that the United States is going to shut its markets and not sell to the nations which are fighting in Europe.

Missed His Chance.

In speaking of gallant Phil Kearny, President Wilson said that he regretted that he did not have a first name which could be shortened into an affectionate term. Well, if his biographers tell the truth, he once had a chance, for it is stated that he was christened Thomas Woodrow. But no one who knows President Wilson would ever think of calling him "Tom."

An Orator Returned.

Among those who have "come back" is William A. Rodenburg of Illinois. Billy Rodenburg is one of the real orators of the Republican party. There have been few enough of them in the house during the last session, none who were like Dolliver and Cousins of Iowa. Rodenburg is the best since the day of those Iowa men.

Gardner Keeps at It.

Congressman Gardner of Massachusetts is going to be insistent in the matter of the nation's defense. He intends to have the subject brought before congress if there is any chance of doing so. The probabilities are that Gardner will encounter the opposition of the administration, as anything tending toward preparation for war is not popular at the White House these days.

A Strange Election.

The people of the United States are to be congratulated upon having put over an election which gratifies all parties. The Republicans are positively elated. The Democrats, through statements issued by a number of cabinet officers and campaign managers, have shown that they are perfectly satisfied with the result and claim it as a great endorsement of the administration of President Wilson. Victor Murdock, the leader of the Progressives in the house, has asserted that the Progressive party is stronger than ever. When the people of the United States can "pull off" an election which gratifies three different political parties it is a record achievement.

When Comets Terrified.

To Evelyn a comet was a very terrifying phenomenon. He notes the appearance of one on Jan. 12, 1680, which he describes in his diary as "a meteor of an obscure bright color, very much in shape like the blade of a sword." "What this may portend," he adds, "God only knows, but such another phenomenon I remember to have seen in 1640 about the trial of the greente earle of Strafford, preceding our bloody rebellion. I pray God avert his judgements."

To be out of employment—that is pathetic—not to be ready for employment—that is tragic. The efficient gets to have the jobs, the inefficient are "down and out." Reader, what are you doing to increase your mental assets? What army are you going to join, the efficient or the inefficient? How much longer are you going to debate this question? Social and economic conditions are far from just. How can these conditions be changed if the youth of this age continue to invite the Rip Van Winkle sleep? ## THINKS MISTAKE MADE

When Report is Received that Congressman Lindbergh had no Campaign Expenses to Meet

The St. Cloud Journal-Press is under the impression that a mistake has been made, and says: "Congressman Lindbergh is reported from Washington as having filed a statement that he had no campaign expenses in the recent election. This must be a mistake, because he had to pay filing fees in the primary and regular elections and he flooded the district with speeches, and although these were sent out at government expense, Lindbergh had to pay the cost of printing them. He also held several meetings in the district, and probably had to pay something for hall rent, to say nothing of his expenses in traveling over the district. The democrats accused him of thrift in following up the DuBois meetings, and addressing the crowds gathered by DuBois after the democratic candidate had left, but even then he must have been to considerable expense. If he has filed a statement that his campaign cost him nothing, DuBois might have grounds for contest. But trust Foxey Charley not to leave any loopholes open of that sort."

THE VOTE SUMMED UP

"The Truth About the Sixth District Vote" is Furnished by Congressman Lindbergh

Many requests have come to me to have the facts published in regard to the contest for congress in the Sixth district.

Over three years ago a few political manipulators planned to create a new Sixth district for the purpose of defeating me. Their first plan was to create a shoe-string district that would put Morrison county, my home, into the Minneapolis east side district. They could not accomplish that, so then planned to reduce the Sixth district in population below the regular. In this they succeeded in getting Douglas, Meeker and Wright taken off, and adding Aitkin and Beltrami. The latter two counties have more than three times the area and less than half the population of the counties taken off. It makes a shoe-string district stretching more than two thirds the length of the state and has the smallest population of any of the ten Minnesota districts. The purpose of it was to use Stearns county with its large population, three quarters democratic, to defeat me. It is because none of the counties loaned themselves to the scheme that it failed and much misrepresentation has been made by those disappointed to conceal the result.

Since I have been requested to make the facts known by publication, and since it is your purpose to give the people the facts, I assume that you will be willing to publish this statement, and therefore send it to you along with the figures which are as follows:

I carried ten counties over DuBois by the following majorities:

Aitkin	953
Beltrami	625
Sherburne	753
Wadena	438
Morrison	813
Crow Wing	913
Todd	1001
Cass	624
Hubbard	484
Ben ton	172

Total.....6,776
DuBois carried Stearns county over me by 2,748.

From the above it will be seen that my majority over DuBois was 4,028. The disparity in population in the new Sixth district will rapidly be overcome by the rapid growth of the two new counties which are rich in agricultural lands awaiting thousands of new settlers. Several of the old counties are also increasing their population more than normal, for like reasons. Respectfully,

C. A. LINDBERGH.

Making Law.

"How is the law made?" asked the instructor in United States history. "Oh," replied the maiden cheerfully, "the senate has to ratify it, and then the president has to—has to veto it; and then the house of representatives has to— She hesitated for a moment and knitted her pretty forehead. "Oh, yes! I remember now," she said. "The house of representatives has to adjourn until the next session!"—Youth's Companion.

The Title "King."

The sovereign title of king has generally been supposed to be derived from the old British word "gyning," signifying "wise." But the Hebrew term "rosch" is doubtless the root of all the present titles denoting kingly power, including the Punie "resch," the Scythian "reis," the Latin "rex," the Spanish "rey" and the French "roi." The German nations styled their monarch according to their different dialects—"konig," "kuning," "koning," "king."

DEERWOOD BUYS SOME FIRE HOSE

Five Hundred Feet Purchased From Minneapolis and 250 Feet From Cuyuna Range Hardware Co.

WATER TURNED ON IN VILLAGE

Engineer in Deerwood Testing the Plant—The Deerwood Village Band Concert

Deerwood, Minn., Nov. 19.—The village council of Deerwood has bought 500 feet of hose from the W. S. Nott Co. of Minneapolis and 250 feet from the Cuyuna Range Hardware company.

Oscar Erickson is very sick at a Brainerd hospital.

The "Jolly Palls" gave a minstrel show and exhibition of hypnotism in the village opera house.

Lawrence & Morgan, a colored song and dance sketch team, forgot to pay their board bill at the Deerwood hotel and were arrested and are now lodged in jail. When through with their 15 days in the county jail, Frank E. Cox says two other warrants are ready, one for not paying a hotel bill and another for a store bill in Cuyuna. The plans appear to have a stony road to travel on the Cuyuna range.

On Monday the first water was turned on in Deerwood's water works system and the procedure was a source of gratification to the many people who have labored earnestly for this improvement. The big tank has been filled. Marshal Mike Lamey will have charge at night, it is said, of the electric pumps. An engineer was in Deerwood Tuesday testing the plant.

Richard Johnson, of Barrows, was in town this week.

Julius O. Hage, somewhat crippled up by much walking and traveling through woods and brush, has returned from a deer hunt minus a deer.

The Cuyuna Range Power Co. sold an armature to C. Katz of Brainerd, supposed to be rich in copper. Mr. Katz chopped it up with an axe to get at the mother lode which in weight was considerably below his expectations.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Peterson are the parents of a baby boy.

S. A. Anne, of Vining, is now in charge of the Mahlum Lumber Co. yards.

Mrs. B. Magoffin, Jr., and baby son have returned from a visit in Minneapolis.

Mrs. James McCarville was a Brainerd visitor Wednesday.

Attorney H. E. Peterson was at Carlton on legal business.

Business at the Deerwood hotel is increasing, the hotel enjoying a fine patronage under the management of Frank E. Cox.

Mrs. H. J. Ernster and baby boy Manuel, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Ernster.

Miss Lucille Rudolph visited Deerwood Wednesday.

James Brownlee has been at Duluth attending to business matters.

Donald Quinlivan has returned from a ten days' visit in Minneapolis.

Mrs. W. Rickard, of Minneapolis, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Quinlivan. Mrs. Rickard says that Minneapolis is the scene of many robberies. Her husband's store was robbed three times in as many months in spite of burglary insurance, special watchman service trying front doors and back and police protection.

August Peterson and family, of Grassston, are new residents of Deerwood.

Hans Skau has gone to Little Falls where he will work in a hardware store.

A. H. Young, of Swaters, was in town last week.

The Deerwood band will give a concert at the Electric theatre on Friday evening, Nov. 20.

Queer Happenings In the War News

France is using four canal boats as ambulances to take wounded soldiers to Paris. An armed tug tows them.

Real Redskins are soon to take part in the war. The Six Nations Indians in Canada will furnish a company of 120 officers and men.

Joseph Eiche, a game warden of Passaic, N. J., has had six brothers, five nephews and a niece killed in the war, but four brothers and fourteen nephews are still fighting for the Kaiser.

M. Simyan of Paris in searching for the body of a son killed in Alsace picked up a bit of paper in the trench and found it to be his son's last statement, thrown aside when his pockets were searched.

Some of the hostile trenches about Roye are only fifteen yards apart, and a company of French sappers stumbled into the ditch where German sappers were working. A battle ensued with picks and shovels and continued until rifles began to crack, when the French escaped.

A French expert explains that the strange attitudes in which soldiers are found dead without a scratch are due to the terrific air pressure as a shell explodes. "This pressure," he says, "is suddenly withdrawn, the effect being to stop the whole human organism. It is as if a diver were sent to great depth and instantly brought back to the surface. No living being can stand such a strain."

ADVISED TO EAT MORE FISH.

People of New York Get a Circular From the Food Committee.

Mayor Mitchell's food supply committee of New York city sent out a circular advising people to eat more fish.

"The habit of eating fish on Fridays only is absurd and should be stopped," says the circular. "Fish are just as appetizing and nourishing on Tuesdays and Thursdays as on Fridays, and if you and your neighbors will buy fish any day in the week you will get cheaper fish and better fish. Hundreds of carloads of fish are sent from New York to other cities because the people living in New York do not appreciate the value of fish as a food and do not buy it as often as they should."

"Vary your diet as much as you can. You will be more healthy if you do. Don't use meat so much. Use fish more. Fish is just as nourishing as lean meat, and if eaten with bread, potatoes, etc., will supply all the needs of the body. If possible, buy your fish from a fish dealer."

"When you buy fish see that you get the trimmings. You are just as much entitled to them as you are to the trimmings of your meat. The meat part of almost any fish may be cooked separately. If you ask your fish dealer to remove the meat part of the fish for you the trimmings will consist of the head, the skeleton and the fins, and these can be made for fish stock, out of which can be made excellent fish soups and fish sauces."

JOHN D. NOT ANAEMIC.

Pastor Says Old Man Is In Good Health and a Pleasant Companion.

John D. Rockefeller is not an anaemic old gentleman with a citrous disposition brought on by chronic indigestion; neither is he constantly in fear of assassination and afraid to laugh for fear of being considered undignified. On the contrary, he is a pleasant companion, enjoys excellent health and has an appetite that no day laborer might be ashamed of. He is possessed of a sharp wit, a ready laugh, and a kindly disposition and enjoys life to the utmost.

The Rev. Dr. William W. Bustard, pastor of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church, Cleveland, of which Mr. Rockefeller has been a member for more than sixty years, is authority for these statements.

In addition to being Mr. Rockefeller's spiritual adviser, Mr. Bustard is one of his closest personal friends.

CRITICAL MOMENTS

What the War Teaches

Every life has its critical moments. There are times when a man's health is staked upon the care he gives to it within a few hours. His system may be run down, blood laden with bilious poison and lungs or skin affected.

Twenty-four hours after you start to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, poisonous matter and blood impurities begin to leave your body through the Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and Skin.

So powerfully penetrating is this purely vegetable remedy that through the circulation of the blood it reaches every fibre, muscle and joint, dissolves the poisonous secretions and drives them out of the body.

It brings new activity to the liver, stomach and bowels in a short time, thus causing sallowness, indigestion and constipation to disappear.

It enters the tiny blood vessels of the skin, bringing with it fresh vitalized blood, and abiding faith in its wonderful cleansing power has come to thousands, when pimples, boils, carbuncles, rash, eczema, acne and other skin troubles dry up and disappear.

Good blood means good health; good health means strong men and women, full of vigor and ambition, with minds alert and muscles ever willing. Any medicine dealer will supply you with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in either liquid or tablet form. Remember it is purely vegetable, and free from alcohol or narcotics and is not a secret remedy for all its ingredients are published on wrapper.

Durand high school team, Durand, Mich., utilized his football training when the steering gear of his father's automobile broke. Mr. and Mrs. Atherton and son were on the road seventeen miles from home when the accident happened. There was no garage nearer than Durand.

Young Atherton solved the problem of getting home without waiting. He lay prone on the running board, grasped the front axle with his right hand, using his arm for a steering rod and keeping the machine in the road by main strength. His father drove by keeping the engine running. He reached Durand without further trouble.

25,000 Birds From Saxony.

No less than 25,000 song birds chirped and sang when the steamship Oosterdijk, from Rotterdam, arrived at Hoboken. The birds were part of a Christmas cargo that was carried by the steamer. They came from the homes of hundreds of peasants and bird fanciers in Saxony and comprised what is believed to be the largest shipment of birds ever brought to America. Two-thirds of the birds were canaries.

Lost His Nerve.

Many years ago a blacksmith near York, England, successfully performed the delicate operation of removing a catarract from an eye on several of his fellow villagers, says the London Chronicle. The fact became known to a doctor in the neighborhood, who so admired the blacksmith's skill that he provided the means for his education as an oculist. To the blacksmith the removal of the catarract was no more than a mechanical feat, but when he became acquainted with the structure of the human eye and its amazing delicacy he was so overpowered by the rashness of what he had done in ignorance that he lost his nerve, and with the fear of knowledge he insisted on returning to his anvil.

From a Golf Standpoint.

Some enthusiastic golfers are so engrossed in the game that on and off the green they can think and talk of nothing else. Such a one was taken by an astronomer to see the moon through a telescope. Asked what he thought of the satellite, to his scientific friend's surprise and dismay he said, "It's a' richt, but it's awfu' fu' o' bunkers."—London Mail.

U.S. OWNERSHIP OF WIRES PROPOSED

Burleson to Make Recommendation at Next Session.

WIRELESS A BIG PROBLEM.

Other Measures Along Postal Lines Will Not Be Pushed Until Session in 1915—This Country Kept Busy Trying to Determine What Is Contraband and What Is Not.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Nov. 19.—[Special.]—Postmaster General Burleson does not look for much legislation along postal lines during the short session of congress. He recognizes that little can be done save to pass the appropriation bills, if congress is to avoid an extra session in the spring. At the same time he will make many recommendations in order that they may be considered and studied by those who will shape postal legislation in the next congress.

About the most important recommendation will be for the acquisition by the government of the telegraph and telephone lines. General Burleson believes that all arteries of communication should be in the hands of the government and that the telegraph and telephone monopoly just as the postoffice system.

What to Do With Wireless.

If the government ever should take over the telegraph and telephone lines the question will naturally arise what to do with wireless. Even without assuming government ownership of the telegraph there are many reasons why wireless should be controlled by the government instead of being in private hands.

This has been demonstrated during the war in Europe when wireless stations have been used in a manner far from satisfactory to this government as a neutral. It has often been found that different wireless plants belonging to private parties interfere with and interrupt government work. Then there are the fake distress calls that are sent out by alleged jokers operating wireless plants. Nearly everything connected with the wonderful invention which allows messages to be sent hither and thither through the air indicates that the government should control that line of communication, even more than the telegraph or telephone.

Curious Contraband Regulations.

Various protests have been lodged with this government against furnishing contraband goods to Europeans engaged in war. It develops that contraband is a word which stretches over a wide range and can be made to mean almost anything that a government at war wants it to mean. For instance, foodstuffs, clothing, blankets and such like are not contraband, nor are horses and mules, sent abroad for any other than war purposes. Yet a heavy band is laid upon arms and ammunition and even raw materials like copper, crude oil and other things which only can be used for war materials after manufacture.

It is evident that our government is getting a little tired of the many protests that have been lodged by the representatives of foreign governments. It is absurd to think that the United States is going to shut its markets and not sell to the nations which are fighting in Europe.

Missed His Chance.

In speaking of gallant Phil Kearny, President Wilson said that he regretted that he did not have a first name which could be shortened into an affectionate term. Well, if his biographers tell the truth, he once had a chance, for it is stated that he was christened Thomas Woodrow. But no one who knows President Wilson would ever think of calling him "Tom."

An Orator Returned.

Among those who have "come back" is William A. Rodenburg of Illinois. Billy Rodenburg is one of the real orators of the Republican party. There have been few enough of them in the house during the last session, none who were like Dooliver and Cousins of Iowa. Rodenburg is the best since the day of those Iowa men.

Gardner Keeps at It.

Congressman Gardner of Massachusetts is going to be insistent in the matter of the nation's defense. He intends to have the subject brought before congress if there is any chance of doing so. The probabilities are that Gardner will encounter the opposition of the administration, as anything tending toward preparation for war is not popular at the White House these days.

A Strange Election.

The people of the United States are to be congratulated upon having put over an election which gratifies all parties. The Republicans are positively elated. The Democrats, through statements issued by a number of cabinet officers and campaign managers, have shown that they are perfectly satisfied with the result and claim it as a great endorsement of the administration of President Wilson. Victor Murdock, the leader of the Progressives in the house, has asserted that the Progressive party is stronger than ever. When the people of the United States can "pull off" an election which gratifies three different political parties it is a record achievement.

When Comets Terrified.

To Evelyn a comet was a very terrifying phenomenon. He notes the appearance of one on Jan. 12, 1680, which he describes in his diary as "a meteor of an obscure bright color, very much in shape like the blade of a sword." "What this may portend," he adds, "God only knows, but such another phenomenon I remember to have seen in 1640 about the trial of the greave earle of Strafford, preceding our bloody rebellion. I pray God avert his judgements."

SEVERAL AT IRONTON TOO

Indians to the Number of a Dozen Have Visited Brainerd in the Last Few Days

Reports are current that several Indian families are bent on establishing a residence in Brainerd and Iron-ton. In the last few days a dozen Indians visited Brainerd.

This is an unusual proceeding for Indian visitors are not common in Brainerd or Iron-ton and red skin residents have been as rare as hens' teeth.

At one time a number of Indians lived at Mille Laes lake, but years ago they emigrated. Any Indian found entering a saloon in Brainerd is quickly shown the door and finds himself back in the street.

Other reports are current that some of the Indians, who by the way are very intelligent, are spotters sent to Brainerd and the range to catch liquor men. An Indian has short shrift in any Brainerd saloon, for ever since the closing order of the Indian department of December 10, 1914, the laws regarding Indians have been rigidly observed.

DIES ON WAY TO BRAINERD

Fred P. Bane, on Way to Home of Parents, Collapses on Train at St. Paul and Dies

Ed. C. Bane was notified by wire this morning that his brother, Fred P. Bane, has died suddenly in a hospital at St. Paul last night and he left on the noon train today to bring the body to Brainerd.

Fred P. Bane had made his home at Auburn, California, for some time but owing to ill health had decided to come to Brainerd where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Bane, and his brothers Ed. C. and W. W., and his sister Daisy Bane resided and spend the winter. He stood the trip until he arrived at Omaha where he was obliged to leave the train and rest for a day or two, notifying his relatives when he would resume his trip and was apparently getting along well. When he arrived at St. Paul and before he left the train he collapsed and was taken to a hospital where death followed shortly after. The deceased was 39 years old and was born in Charleston, Ill., coming to Brainerd with his parents where he resided for some years, attending the schools in this city, but for some time he has lived in the west. The funeral will be held from the residence of Geo. R. Bane on South 6th street Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Prosperous and Well Known Farmer of Bay Lake Passed Away, Funeral Thursday Afternoon

John Hammett, aged 72, of Bay Lake, a prosperous and well known farmer, passed away Tuesday and the funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon from the Esdon school house, Rev. A. Zabel, of this city, officiating.

Mr. Hammett leaves a wife and eleven children, being four sons and seven daughters. The family came to this county some fourteen years ago from Faribault. Active and experienced, well versed in farming, the land Mr. Hammett tilled speedily became one of the best farms in the county and many improvements were added to the broad acres. He had been in failing health the last few years and when he passed away it was as though he closed his eyes in sleep.

In the case against John W. Brown charged with burglary in the third degree, he being accused of breaking into and robbing a saloon in Jenkins, the arguments were concluded this morning and the case is now in the hands of the jury. W. W. Bane, appointed by the court, is defending Brown.

CAMELS OF THE WORLD

A Temple of This Order is Now Being Formed in Brainerd by the National Organizer

A. W. Tracy, of Minneapolis, National Organizer of the Camels of the World, is in the city for the purpose of organizing that fraternal order in this city and is meeting with good success in his undertaking which is yet in its infancy as far as the Brainerd Temple is concerned. The order is a body of clean, moral men who have banded themselves together for the purpose of propagating knightly principles as they existed years ago. In their literature which is circulated the information is given that:

The order is a successor to the Munificent Order of Camels, a fraternal order that was a successor to the Magnanimous Knights who flourished 400 years after the Christian era. "Help one another" is their motto, and fraternalism their guiding star. There are no Camels in the poorhouse or in the Potter's field. Men of clean character and habits between the ages of 21 and 55 years are welcome to membership, while saloon keepers, bar tenders, vendors of intoxicants, gamblers or men of immoral practices are absolutely barred.

MEAT EATERS ARE SECURE

Federal Stamp Guarantees Safety of Live Stock Products.

Washington, Nov. 19.—To reassure consumers who fear to eat meat because of the live stock foot and mouth disease the department of agriculture issued a statement explaining that if properly cooked even the meat of an infected animal is not dangerous.

"In the case of meat, as in the case of milk," the statement said, "it must be remembered that all herds which actually show the disease are quarantined and neither milk nor meat from the sick animal can be sold."

"All meat suspected of coming from animals infected with this complaint is sent, under government seal, to the tanks to be rendered into fertilizer. The federal inspection stamp on meat therefore means that it is entirely safe."

The government will not lift the embargo on shipments of cattle unaffected ahead of quarantined states until thoroughly convinced that the foot and mouth disease does not exist in such territory, it was announced.

Plans of Economy and Efficiency Commission Discussed at Meeting of Chamber of Commerce

GOOD ROADS ADVOCATE PRESENT

Hugh J. Hughes and J. S. Pardee Tell the People What the Commission Has Tried to Do

A representative gathering of members of the Chamber of Commerce listened to a discussion of the workings of the economy and efficiency commission, since the appointment of the members by Gov. Eberhart a year or two ago, by two of the members last evening. Hugh J. Hughes led the discussion, which was more of a lecture on what the commission had accomplished in the way of a preliminary report to the legislature and the governor, and in prefacing his remarks he stated that the idea of the work that had been accomplished was conceived at the meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association held in this city in Dec. 1910, and a plan for reorganizing the executive branch of the state government was evolved. Mr. Hughes explained how the matter of concentrating the 75 or more boards that now transact the state's business into five or six departments answerable to one head had been gone over and decided on, explaining that these boards as they now exist have in their employ something like 3000 people and it resolves itself into a huge political machine, more valuable at election time than at any other in many instances. Not all the boards came under the ban, however, but many of them had accomplished their ends years ago and were still continued because the law that created them had never been repealed and that boards with a good pay roll seldom legislate themselves out of a job. Mr. Hughes spoke of the obstacles that were expected to be found by the commission in the way of getting information from the heads of the departments that the commission was endeavoring to put out of business, and stated that he was happy to be able to tell the people that they had been treated with the greatest courtesy in the matter and that everything had been furnished them in the way of information that they had asked for. Mr. Hughes spoke for an hour and was followed by J. S. Pardee who was there to answer any question that might be propounded by those who listened to the speaker who preceded him, in fact Mr. Hughes was to put Mr. Pardee in a box if possible, but he failed to do so, as Mr. Pardee explained fully every point that was brought up and added much valuable information to the discussion. Both gentlemen agreed that the members of the commission had done their best in formulating the plan, that it was as near perfect as possible but there were probably those who would see where some changes were necessary. The commission had worked harmoniously throughout at their own expense and without respect to political affiliation. The merit system in civil service and the budget system in appropriations were among the leading features of the report.

Mr. Pardee in commenting on the remark that "now election is over all economy talk will cease," says: Under ordinary circumstances, the enthusiastic member comes to St. Paul determined upon economy, gets tangled up in a bewildering mass of requests, for appropriations, votes in perplexity for the bill that comes from committee, and goes home rather sheepishly confessing that he did not make much of a dent in the habit of extravagance, and is saved from the immediate wrath of his constituents only by the fact that it is nearly two years before they find out what happened.

Because economy ordinarily means only a good intention. There is opportunity this time for members of the legislature to express themselves in something more than good intentions. They will be able to adopt a plan, which will make practical economy feasible in a thousand different ways. They will have this before them in the report of the Efficiency Commission, all ready for consideration, ready to be enacted just as it stands if it suits the legislature, and put together something like a unit system bookcase, so that if the legislature wishes to move around some sections, it can be done without using an axe.

Economy talk won't end with the election this time. It will be worked out in a practical measure for accomplishing actual economy. The members who come to St. Paul with the sincere purpose to do something for economy will not be balked this time by the incoherent conditions, which have hindered other legislatures equally well meaning. This time it goes because the legislature will have something to do with.

Have you noticed that the organization of the house seems to revolve largely around the efficiency commission's plan? Showing that through the influence of the state press, it has become the central topic.

Following Mr. Pardee the advance agent of G. Ward King, the split log drag man, entertained the audience for nearly an hour, and as an exponent of good roads William Seed certainly had his subject well in hand and convinced his listeners that he was an earnest advocate of what every section of the country most needs. The committee on good roads met this morning to consider a proposition for the appearance of Mr. King in this county in December and the indications are that a sufficient amount of money will be raised to bring Mr. King here for a five days course.

SYLVAN HAS MERRY DANCE

Pillager Herald Tells of Citizens who Attended—Also Expands on the Brotherhood Idea

The last issue of the Herald says: The dance at Sylvan last Saturday evening was well represented by Pillagerites. Ed Parks and Miss Delpha Parks assisted by Col. Bennett furnished the waltzes and two-steps to which the merry dancers tripped the light fantastic toe. Wilbur Bennet was there with an auto load of young people and on the return he stripped the gears on the car and Pete Nelson was called on for help. Harold Dorsey and Roger Day were forced to hit the ties after an all night session in the depot. They arrived here with thin soles and large appetites.

Saturday two automobile loads of Eagle Brothers passed through town enroute to Brainerd to visit such Eagle Brothers who are at the Brainerd hospitals. Among those sick, we learned, Pal Williams is one. A little sunshine along the way, a grasp of a brother's hand, a cheering word, a knowledge that when trouble or sickness overtakes you, you are not forgotten and that all the flowers are not saved for your casket, is true fraternity.

Starting from a fire heating a twelve-barrel water kettle, flames early this morning spread about the interior and burned to the ground the cement block factory of Ritari Brothers situated at 1424 Norwood street. There was very little insurance on the building. Building and contents was valued at between $5,000 and $6,000.

Ritari Brothers firm is composed of Arvid, William and Ernest Ritari. The factory was a frame building and housed a lot of valuable cement block making machinery, molds, and some made up stock. Not a particle of stuff was saved.

STATE GETS ELK HERD

James J. Hill Has Given His Herd of Twenty-five Elk to State, Will go to Itasca Park

The state forester, Wm. T. Cox, says that the twenty-five elk offered the state by J. J. Hill will undoubtedly be placed in the Itasca state park with fifty others to be obtained from Yellowstone park. If the animals are obtained Minnesota will have a state herd of eighty-nine elk.

The Minnesota forest service has $780 left from the $5,000 elk appropriation made by the legislature of 1913. This money, said Mr. Cox will be sufficient to bring the elk here from Yellowstone park. Money to capture the elk on North Oaks farm and ship them to the state park probably will be raised by subscription. After obtaining fourteen animals in Wyoming last year by private purchases, the forest service used part of the appropriation to build an eight foot woven wire fence around a portion of the Itasca park.

Plans to capture the Hill herd will be made as soon as the ground freezes. They are confined in a 110 acre tract and the round-up is expected to be difficult.

SEVERAL AT IRONTON TOO

Indians to the Number of a Dozen Have Visited Brainerd in the Last Few Days

Reports are current that several Indian families are bent on establishing a residence in Brainerd and Ironton. In the last few days a dozen Indians visited Brainerd.

This is an unusual proceeding for Indian visitors are not common in Brainerd or Ironton and red skin residents have been as rare as hens' teeth.

At one time a number of Indians lived at Mille Lacs lake, but years ago they emigrated. Any Indian found entering a saloon in Brainerd is quickly shown the door and finds himself back in the street.

Other reports are current that some of the Indians, who by the way are very intelligent, are spotters sent to Brainerd and the range to catch liquor men. An Indian has short shrift in any Brainerd saloon, for ever since the closing order of the Indian department of December 10, 1914, the laws regarding Indians have been rigidly observed.

DIES ON WAY TO BRAINERD

Fred P. Bane, on Way to Home of Parents, Collapses on Train at St. Paul and Dies

Ed. C. Bane was notified by wire this morning that his brother, Fred P. Bane, has died suddenly in a hospital at St. Paul last night and he left on the noon train today to bring the body to Brainerd.

Fred P. Bane had made his home at Auburn, California, for some time but owing to ill health had decided to come to Brainerd where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Bane, and his brothers Ed. C. and W. W., and his sister Daisy Bane resided and spend the winter. He stood the trip until he arrived at Omaha where he was obliged to leave the train and rest for a day or two, notifying his relatives when he would resume his trip and was apparently getting along well. When he arrived at St. Paul and before he left the train he collapsed and was taken to a hospital where death followed shortly after. The deceased was 39 years old and was born in Charleston, Ill., coming to Brainerd with his parents where he resided for some years, attending the schools in this city, but for some time he has lived in the west. The funeral will be held from the residence of Geo. R. Bane on South 6th street Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Hammett leaves a wife and eleven children, being four sons and seven daughters. The family came to this county some fourteen years ago from Faribault. Active and experienced, well versed in farming, the land Mr. Hammett tilled speedily became one of the best farms in the county and many improvements were added to the broad acres. He had been in failing health the last few years and when he passed away it was as though he closed his eyes in sleep.

"Daisies"

While Rupert, a city man, is in the country he meets Elsie in the field of daisies. It is the beginning of love. Later Rupert takes Elsie to the city as his wife. Several years pass and they drift apart. Rupert is infatuated with another. It is a simple bunch of daisies sent to his wife by mistake that revives a lapsed romance and prevents tragedy.

"Richelieu"

Four Reels

"Richelieu" appeals to the heart, to the love of fiction and romance harbored by every person, young or old. And, going further than that, it teaches important history, describes characters and paints the atmosphere and spirit of the people contemporaneous with that period in a way that leaves a lasting impression and yet that is never tiring. "Richelieu" should be seen by every school boy and girl, by every person who loves the best in drama, by that person who delights in a beautiful, artistic piece of work—a painting.

Lapland Reindeers.

In April the Lapp lets his reindeer loose to wander as they please, and when the mosquitoes begin to abound, about midsummer, he collects his herd simply by catching one deer, fitting it with a bell and trusting to instinct, which leads the animals to gather into herds for protection against the mosquitoes, to do the rest. In a cool summer, when mosquitoes are few, this instinct does not come into play, and it is almost impossible to bring the reindeer together.

Ban on Shipping May Lead to Complications.

COPPER PRODUCERS PROTEST

Action of England in Refusing to Allow Metal to Be Shipped to Germany Through Italy Is Objected to—Progressives Think They Have Gained Foothold in South.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Nov. 17.—[Special.]—The war has brought on further complications in regard to the shipment abroad of goods which can in any way be counted as contraband.

Representatives of states which produce copper are protesting against the ruling of Great Britain that this metal is a contraband and subject to seizure if sent to any belligerent or even to a neutral country through which it could reach Germany or Austria. Representatives of the copper interests claim that only a small portion of copper produced is used for war purposes.

What will cause almost as much complaint as anything else is the report that the Lloyd's will hereafter decline risks upon cargoes of foodstuffs, which will possibly interfere with the shipment of flour and wheat and other supplies that could reach Germany.

It is possible that the complaints which will follow these restrictions may lead to complications of a more serious nature, as the Americans will object strongly to having foreign markets closed.

Victor Has Visions.

Victor Murdock says that the Progressive party was never more alive than at present and believes that it will continue to be a great factor in politics. He thinks that the Progressives have gained a foothold in southern states which will mean a great deal in politics hereafter. "There is one thing about Vic Murdock, he is no quitter. He has been a fighter ever since he has been in congress and even if he was not successful in his race for the United States senate, he has courage enough to go along and continue the Progressive fight. However, when he talks of the Progressive party being more alive than ever before and sees prospects in the southern states he must be credited with having visions.

Railway Mail Pay.

The election has brought about a distinct change in the attitude of public men toward the railroads. The rejection by Missouri of the "rail crew bill" has had considerable influence in the direction of more consideration to the financial conditions of the roads. Just at this time also a great many letters are being received from railroad labor organizations expressing the fear that the railroads may be compelled to reduce wages.

Many railroads have taken off trains. The labor organizations want nothing done which will decrease the revenues of the roads and cause further reduction of wages. On this account it is quite possible that the railway mail pay bill which was passed by the house and is now pending in the senate committee may be greatly modified before it becomes a law. The railroads have represented that this bill would work a great hardship upon them.

A Raker-Quezon Record.

A belated issue of the Congressional Record for the last session came out some time ago, and it might have been called the "Raker-Quezon Record." It contained 100 columns of speeches, or alleged speeches, made in congress, and of these Manuel L. Quezon, one of the commissioners of the Philippine Islands, occupied fifty-nine columns. Congressman Raker of California had twenty-two columns. Quezon's speeches were entirely about the Philippine Islands and the Jones bill, which passed the house after quite a lengthy political debate. It is expected that Commissioner Quezon will have the larger portion of these speeches translated into Spanish for the benefit of his constituents, as they explained as far as possible why it was that the promise of independence was far from being fulfilled by the new legislation.

Did Not Shed Tears.

It is said that Coe L. Crawford, the retiring senator from South Dakota, did not shed many tears when the returns showed that Congressman Burke of that state failed to secure a majority in the recent election. Crawford thought he was sure of re-election, and he was greatly surprised when Burke, a standpat in the house and lieutenant of Jim Mann, ran away with the primary prize. It was evident that there were enough Progressives among former Republicans in South Dakota to prevent the election of Burke.

Road Building Bill.

There is a strong effort in the senate to push the bill for road building. Quite a number of men think that the expenditure of federal money in the southern states at this time will be a great advantage and that, if the government is going to build roads, now is the time that the work should be begun. Opposed to this intention are those who say that it is a bad time to embark on increased federal expenditures at a time when it was necessary to pass an emergency revenue measure to supplement the decreased receipts of the treasury.

SOME DEAD LIBRARIES.

Mausoleums at Oxford For Works Long Since Out of Use.

In his book on "Old Oxford Libraries" Strickland Gibson describes the old library of Jesus college, built and founded by Sir Levine Jenkins about 1676, "as a mausoleum for books long since dead."

"For can any change of scholarship," the author asks, "quicken old Testaments and raise him from the grave? Will any theologian, save out of mere curiosity, ever pore again over the sixteen folio volumes of Alfonso Salmeron? It is only by a few antiquaries that the old books are taken from their shelves. The undergraduates never enter; indeed, some have never heard of the Old Library. It is elsewhere, in the Undergraduates' library, that the present generation seeks learning."

But even this is not the dearest of libraries, for Mr. Gibson describes a less frequented one within the precincts of Christ church.

"Dr. Richard Allestree, regius professor of divinity, in 1680 conveyed the whole of his books to the university in trust for the use of successive regius professors of divinity. The university, by the deed of trust, was to exercise the right of visitation, but no money was left for the maintenance of the library, nor has provision ever been made for it. In a secluded cloister within a small chamber and a long, narrow room paved with red tiles the books, unvisited, pass their days in dusty desolation and unbroken peace. Only the professor has the right of entry, a right probably exercised but seldom by one whose duty it is to interpret the living Word and who may well hesitate to explore the wastes of long exhausted theological controversies.

"The eighteenth century library of St. Edmund Hall is worth visiting for the sake of its picturesque appearance and its diminutive size. It is situated above the chapel and is approached by a narrow and tortuous staircase, on which, unless the visitor follows his guide very closely, there is some likelihood of his being temporarily lost. The library is the smallest in Oxford—a little room with a gallery running round. Originally the books were all on the walls, but recently some transverse cases have been added, thus rendering perambulation difficult. It is a library for the sedentary only."

Springing the Needle Gun.

The Prussians kept the secret of the needle gun for thirty years, and then sprang it on the Austrian army at Sadova with demoralizing effect. Indeed, the effect of the Prussian quick firing at that battle was more moral than material, for the needle gun was of shorter range than the breech loading rifle then in use in other armies. Still, the sudden revelation of the secret in the war with Austria had a good deal to do with winning the victory. The needle gun had been completed as an invention in 1836. The Prussians stocked their arsenals with it, serving it out gradually and training a nucleus of men in its use, and yet kept the world in ignorance for years that they had an entirely new arm.—Manchester Guardian.

Library of Playbills.

The library of the British museum contains upward of 600,000 playbills, bound in 340 volumes.

Let's All Give Thanks to Mother!

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

WHEN father carves the turkey
'Tis then sweet scents arise,
Our senses gratifying
Through noses and through eyes.

Then father holds the center
Of Yankeeedom's broad stage;
He stands there like a hero
Of ancient lineage.

FOR YOU HAVE CARVED THE PUMPKIN THAT MAKE THE GOLDEN PIE.

But who's this in the background
So modest hidden from view?
Come forward, mother worker,
And take what is your due!

Let father carve the turkey.
Yours be the greater prize,
For you have carved the pumpkins
That make the golden pies.

A WORLD THANKSGIVING.

Why Should America Have Monopoly of the Holiday?

This being the Thanksgiving season, it should be the proper time to ask why the United States of America has a monopoly on the celebration of a day of thanks to the supreme Giver for the blessings he has conferred.

Why is there not a day of universal thanks, when all the civilized nations of the earth could get together for one day and proffer their thanks for the blessings they have received? Every civilized nation recognizes a supreme ruler and author of all good, and Christian, Jew, Mohammedan, Buddhist and Confucian could unite for one day at least in the brotherhood of thankfulness.

It would be a beautiful idea if we in America who instituted this day of thanks could pass its spirit all around the world and know that on this day, every other nation was doing the same. That would be a unity which has never yet been attained, but of which no man of any faith can give any good and sufficient reason for its nonexistence.

There is absolutely no argument against a day of universal thanks, and if anybody—Jew or gentile—can object to it I should like to know the nature of his objection. The feeling of gratefulness is a common heritage of mankind, and as it is, why should mankind hesitate to become a unit in its acknowledgment? We can have world expositions, world congresses, world societies, world tribunals, so why not a world Thanksgiving day?—W. J. Lamp-ton in Letter to New York World.

Give Thanks!

Praise God for what so white and sweet of which to make our bread!
Praise God for yellow corn with which his swelling world is fed!
Praise God for fish and flesh and fowl he gave to man for food!
Praise God for every creature which he made and called it good!
Praise God for winter stores of ice; praise
God for summer's heat!
Praise God for fruit tree bearing seed.
"To you it is for meat."
Praise God for all the bounty by which the world is fed!
Praise God, his children all, to whom he gives their daily bread.
—Edward Everett Hale

THE TRUE THANKSGIVING.

By Rev. Dr. JOSEPH KRAUSKOPF of Philadelphia.

It is well that our fathers instituted the day of Thanksgiving on which to be made conscious of the countless blessings that surrounded them and of their many obligations to render praise and thanksgiving to the author of them all. In return for God's mercy we should thank of these in our midst not so blessed as we and give them also opportunity for being thankful and for rejoicing. The truly grateful feels that God does not lavish his blessings upon the earth so that a few may enjoy a great abundance while others live in want. It is wrong for one to enjoy the feast and for another to endure the fast.

The truest joy is that which springs from bringing joy to others. The truest gratitude is in that act which gives to others the opportunity for being grateful. The truest wealth is that which kindness stores up in the heart of the sorrowing and suffering. Our noblest acquisitions live only in our charity.

PERILOUS CLIMBING.

Scaling the Almost Vertical Wall of the Grand Canyon.

Two brothers, Walter and Ray Mendenhall, had been placer mining near the foot of the Henry mountains in Utah, says a writer in the Montreal Herald, and had come down the Colorado river in boats to the Grand Canyon. There they had a very thrilling adventure.

Learning that the river could be followed on foot for a short distance down the canyon, the brothers started out one morning to examine the numerous rapids that mark the entrance and select channels by which they might most safely descend the river.

They found the way rough, but they persisted and covered nearly ten miles. Then because of the difficult traveling they determined that rather than repeat their experience they would scale the canyon wall.

They finally selected a place where the precipice was not more than 200 feet. Certain shoulders of rock, moreover, seemed to afford a safe way for climbers. For the first fifty feet the work was comparatively easy, for the jutting ledges were short and numerous, but this way gradually became almost vertical, with only slender rims and points of rock to hold to as they climbed. But it always looked a little easier just beyond, and for some time the men climbed confidently and steadily.

In following the "fil" of the ledges the brothers had worked somewhat to one side until they reached a narrow shelf, on which they stopped for a few moments to rest and steady their nerves. At this point the cliff was a vertical drop of over 150 feet, and the rocky wall above appeared to be unscalable.

There was only one possible way to ascend. A narrow opening in the face of the cliff, where a column of rock, loosened by frost, had broken away and tumbled into the canyon's depths, offered the only hope of progress.

For forty feet or more the young men followed that cleft until they reached a narrow shelf, about fifteen inches wide, directly beneath the final

FALLING HAIR MEANS

DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is sure evidence of a neglected scalp, or dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp. —Advt.

"Right-Cut", the Real Tobacco Chew to a man who wants the chew that

Ripe, mellow, sappy tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

Get a pouch—and learn for yourself how much better it satisfies.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the ordinary size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

Mausoleums at Oxford For Works Long Since Out of Use.

In his book on "Old Oxford Libraries" Strickland Gibson describes the old library of Jesus college, built and founded by Sir Leoline Jenkins about 1670, "as a mausoleum for books long since dead."

"For any change of scholarship," the author says, "quicken old Testaments and raise him from the grave? With any theology, save out of mere curiosity, ever pore again over the sixteen folio volumes of Alfonso Salmeron? It is only by a few antiquaries that the old books are taken from their shelves. The undergraduates never enter; indeed, some have never heard of the old library. It is elsewhere, in the undergraduates' library, that the present generation seeks learning."

But even this is not the dearest of libraries, for Mr. Gibson describes a less frequented one within the precincts of Christ church.

"Dr. Richard Allstree, regius professor of divinity, in 1680 conveyed the whole of his books to the university in trust for the use of successive regius professors of divinity. The university, by the deed of trust, was to exercise the right of visitation, but no money was left for the maintenance of the library, nor has provision ever been made for it. In a secluded cloister within a small chamber and a long, narrow room paved with red tiles the books, unvisited, pass their days in dusty desolation and unbroken peace. Only the professor has the right of entry, a right probably exercised but seldom by one whose duty it is to interpret the living Word and who may well hesitate to explore the wastes of long exhausted theological controversy."

"The eighteenth century library of St. Edmund Hall is worth visiting for the sake of its picturesque appearance and its diminutive size. It is situated above the chapel and is approached by a narrow and tortuous staircase, on which, unless the visitor follows his guide very closely, there is some likelihood of his being temporarily lost. The library is the smallest in Oxford—a little room with a gallery running round. Originally the books were all on the walls, but recently some transverse cases have been added, thus rendering perambulation difficult. It is a library for the sedentary only."

Springing the Needle Gun.

The Prussians kept the secret of the needle gun for thirty years, and then sprang it on the Austrian army at Sadova with demoralizing effect. Indeed, the effect of the Prussian quick firing at that battle was more moral than material, for the needle gun was of shorter range than the breech loading rifle then in use in other armies. Still, the sudden revelation of the secret in the war with Austria had a good deal to do with winning the victory. The needle gun had been completed as an invention in 1836. The Prussians stocked their arsenals with it, serving it out gradually and training a nucleus of men in its use, and yet kept the world in ignorance for years that they had an entirely new arm. ## Let's All Give Thanks to Mother!

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

WHEN father carves the turkey 'Tis then sweet scents arise, Our senses gratifying Through noses and through eyes.

Then father holds the center Of Yankeeedom's broad stage; He stands there like a hero Of ancient lineage.

FOR YOU HAVE CARVED THE PUMPKIN THAT MAKE THE GOLDEN PIE.

But who's this in the background So modest hides from view? Come forward, mother worker, And take what is your due!

Let father carve the turkey, Yours be the greater prize, For you have carved the pumpkins That make the golden pie.

A WORLD THANKSGIVING.

Why Should America Have Monopoly of the Holiday?

This being the Thanksgiving season, it should be the proper time to ask why the United States of America has a monopoly on the celebration of a day of thanks to the supreme Giver for the blessings he has conferred.

Why is there not a day of universal thanks, when all the civilized nations of the earth could get together for one day and proffer their thanks for the blessings they have received? Every civilized nation recognizes a supreme Ruler and Author of all good, and Christian, Jew, Mohammedan, Buddhist and Confucian could unite for one day at least in the brotherhood of thankfulness.

It would be a beautiful idea if we in America who instituted this day of thanks could pass his spirit all around the world and know that on this day, when we pause a while to offer thanks, every other nation was doing the same. That would be a unity which has never yet been attained, but of which a man of any faith can give any good and sufficient reason for its necessity.

There is absolutely no argument against a day of universal thanks, and if anybody—Jew or gentile—can object to it I should like to know the nature of his objection. The feeling of gratefulness is a common heritage of man kind, and as it is, why should man kind hesitate to become a unit in its acknowledgment? We can have world expositions, world congresses, world societies, world tribunals, so why not a world Thanksgiving day?—W. J. Lupton in Letter to New York World.

Give Thanks!

Praise God for what so white and sweet of which to make our bread! Praise God for yellow corn with which his waiting world is fed! Praise God for fish and fowl and fowl he gave to man for food! Praise God for every creature which he made and called it good! Praise God for winter's store of ice; praise God for summer's heat! Praise God for fruit tree bearing seed. "To you it is for meat." Praise God for all the bounty by which the world is fed! Praise God, his children all, to whom he gives their daily bread. —Richard Everett Hale

THE TRUE THANKSGIVING.

By Rev. Dr. JOSEPH KRAUSKOPF of Philadelphia.

It is well that our fathers instituted the day of Thanksgiving on which to be made conscious of the countless blessings that surrounded them and of their many obligations to render praise and thanksgiving to the author of them all. In return for God's mercy we should think of those in our midst not so blessed as we and give them also opportunity for being thankful and for rejoicing. The truly grateful feels that God does not lavish his blessings upon the earth so that a few may enjoy a great abundance while others live in want. It is wrong for one to enjoy the feast and for another to endure the fast.

The truest joy is that which springs from bringing joy to others. The truest gratitude is in that act which gives to others the opportunity for being grateful. The truest wealth is that which kindness stores up in the heart of the sorrowing and suffering. Our noblest acquisitions live only in our charity.

PERILOUS CLIMBING.

Scaling the Almost Vertical Wall of the Grand Canyon.

Two brothers, Walter and Ray Mendenhall, had been placer mining near the foot of the Henry mountains in Utah, says a writer in the Montreal Herald, and had come down the Colorado river in boats to the Grand canyon. There they had a very thrilling adventure.

Learning that the river could be followed on foot for a short distance down the canyon, the brothers started out one morning to examine the numerous rapids that mark the entrance and select channels by which they might most safely descend the river.

They found the way rough, but they persisted and covered nearly ten miles. Then because of the difficult traveling they determined that rather than repeat their experience they would scale the canyon wall.

They finally selected a place where the precipice was not more than 200 feet high. Certain shoulders of rock, moreover, seemed to afford a safe way for climbers. For the first fifty feet the work was comparatively easy, for the jutting ledges were short and numerous, but this way gradually became almost vertical, with only slender rims and points of rock to hold to as they climbed. But it always looked a little easier just beyond, and for some time the men climbed confidently and steadily.

In following the "fil" of the ledges the brothers had worked somewhat to one side until they reached a narrow shelf, on which they stopped for a few moments to rest and steady their nerves. At this point the cliff was a vertical drop of over 150 feet, and the rocky wall above appeared to be unscalable.

There was only one possible way to ascend. A narrow opening in the face of the cliff, where a column of rock, loosened by frost, had broken away and tumbled into the canyon's depths, offered the only hope of progress.

For forty feet or more the young men followed that cleft until they reached a narrow shelf, about fifteen inches wide, directly beneath the final

FALLING HAIR MEANS DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is sure evidence of a neglected scalp, of dandruff—that awful scourge. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to startling "loosen" and disengage themselves from the scalp. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp. —Advt.

THE OLD DOCTOR'S LOSS AROUSED HIS IRE

WELCOME as signs of rain in a drouth—word of "Right-Cut", the Real Tobacco Chew to a man who wants the chew that comforts.

Ripe, mellow, sappy tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough.

Get a pouch—and learn for yourself how much better it satisfies.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.
